You had your heart on your tongue You spoke out right just like a child You lost control, running wild Careless love, that's all you had Your so-called friends, they made you mad But I could see in your eyes That you were so sad Until you gave me your heart Gave me your heart And I gave you mine Gave me your heart, honey Gave me your heart And I gave you mine Gave me your heart, honey You were acting tough, stood your ground, hid your feelings inside your heart You wanted to live a righteous life, but real life was passing by Even your friends you pushed away, I could see in your eyes That you were so sad, until you gave me your heart Gave me your heart, and I gave you mine Gave me your heart, honey Gave me your heart, and I gave you mine Gave me your heart, honey You're the one to make me pray, that you'll never go away You're my world and I will stay by your side Gave me your heart, and I gave you mine Gave me your heart, honey Gave me your heart, and I gave you mine Gave me your heart, honey Gave me your heart, and I gave you mine Gave me your heart, honey Gave me your heart
