Maybe it's just a matter of time Just a matter of trust Just a matter of letting go Things do happen twice all the time You surrender our fight there's so much to control But today I hide, hurting inside It will take some time, for my sun to shine One day I will pretend, there was no better end No broken heart to mend But I know I'll achieve, a dream bittersweet It's part of my past, it's meant to last Love is all we have Maybe it's just a matter of strength Just a matter of hope Disappointments they come and go Rainbows only shine when it rains That's what it is Fall and rise, that's the price you pay We met at the wrong time, wrong place But destiny can't be changed One day I will look back One day I'll understand, that love was yet to come But today I hide, hurting inside It will take some time, for my sun to shine One day I will pretend, there was no better end No broken heart to mend But I know I'll achieve, a dream bittersweet It's part of my past, it's meant to last Love is all we have One day I'll understand, that love was yet to come But today I hide, hurting inside It will take some time, for my sun to shine One day I will pretend, there was no better end No broken heart to mend But I know I'll achieve, a dream bittersweet It's part of my past, it's meant to last Love is all we have
