It's been a long time since I cried. It's been a long time since I loved. All these feelings from deep inside that make me feel high.

It's been a long time since I screamed. It's been a long time since I was silent. It's in these words coming out that make me.

It's in the sight of my face that makes me feel alive. It's been a long time since I loved. It's been a long time since I hated.

Where are these feelings from deep inside that make me feel high? It's in these words coming out that make me feel good. It's in the sight of my face that makes me feel alive. It's been a long time since I cried.

It's been a long time since I really tried to let it go, to let me go, to let out of my heart, from my soul. To let it out of my heart, from my soul. It's in the sight of my face that makes me feel alive.
