

NiRo MR-Raindrop

A tiny little raindrop on its way to the sea. Imagine little raindrop was a soul who lived. A lonesome little raindrop, no chance to survive.

Need shelter and protection, a caring guide. What does it take to clear away a heart storm? What does it take to clear away a heart storm? Some people do, some people do. Some people, some people do.

They do not resign because of heart storms. Some people do, some people do. Some people, some people do.

They do not resign because of heart storms. A single little grain of sand lost in a desert storm. What if every grain of sand was a child to be born? The vastness of this open land does make one feel so small.

Give it a try with a helping hand, you can save this soul. What does it take to clear away a heart storm? What does it take to clear away a heart storm? Some people do, some people do. Some people, some people do.

They do not resign because of heart storms. Some people do, some people do. Some people do, some people do.

They do not resign because of heart storms. Time must have grown up fast, passing through our minds. Some people do it just in front of our eyes.

But it's way too soon. Imagine that a rainbow was a song to me. A song to me, a song to me, a song to me.

A song to me, a song to me, a song to me.