Searching for a new style of life That's going to raise my mind Spend all my time To work on my own Didn't realize My wish had been Now I've been down I've made up my mind I've given up myself On top of that I couldn't see no colors Just black and white Life is confusion And living is fight Seems like the end of the world It's nothing but a new beginning Seems like the end of all time It's nothing but a new beginning Seems like the end of all life Will be the birth of a new world Sunbeams are crashing The darkness away It's getting lighter and lighter And I understand The world will be changed And so shall I I have to be faithful And trust in the light Seems like the end of the world It's nothing but a new beginning Seems like the end of all time It's nothing but a new beginning Seems like the end of all life Will be the birth of a new world It's nothing but a new beginning It's nothing but a new beginning It'll be the birth of a new world
