

NiRo EB-Someone's-There

I'm sitting all alone in bed, wishing it was just a dream
Losing everything I had, what's important to me
Remember what my mama said when I was a little girl
Pray to God and he'll hear your prayer
Cause he knows you from the day of your birth
You said you were an angel, he's holding you by the hand
He'll dry your tears and guide you to the promised land
Open your heart, regard all you've done
The last one left our family, now I'm all alone
Looking out the window of this empty house in the dawn
Remember what the pastor said in the speech on my husband's grave He said in terror next to God and now we know that he'll say
You said you were an angel, he's holding you by the hand
He'll dry your tears and guide you to the promised land
The last day has just begun, and the last breath's already done
Lying here in my bed, watching pictures on the wall
Happy faces smiling gently, from a time far behind
The last step isn't hard to walk, cause someone's waiting behind the line
You said you were an angel, he's holding you by the hand
He'll dry your tears and guide you to the promised land
You said you were an angel, he's holding you by the hand
He'll dry your tears and guide you to the promised land