If it ain't me, it must be you There is nothing, honey, I can't do for you If you were right, I must be wrong Even I wouldn't know you're not I would keep going on Right is right, wrong is wrong Lie is a lie, so hear my song Maybe the truth lies somewhere in between In the middle, in the middle, in the middle In the middle, in the middle, in the middle of my heart In the middle, in the middle, in the middle In the middle, in the middle, in the middle of my heart Times are a-changin' And so am I A little bit wiser day by day So can we work it out? Turn around Give it one more try What can I say now, honey? It doesn't really matter anyhow Right is right and wrong is wrong Lies are lies, so hear my song Maybe the truth lies somewhere in between In the middle, in the middle, in the middle In the middle, in the middle, in the middle of my heart In the middle, in the middle, in the middle In the middle, in the middle, in the middle of my heart In the middle, in the middle, in the middle In the middle, in the middle, in the middle of my heart In the middle, in the middle, in the middle In the middle, in the middle, in the middle of my heart
