♪Need to get away ♪It's six in the morning ♪Times are scary I've been out since last evening Begging for my sins Looking at my bed, yeah So I lay me down to sleep And I'm staying awake, yeah Just counting sheep These weary eyes of mine They've seen a lot of things They've seen both good and bad And they've seen me on my knees Until you get awake, yeah I need to get away from here I need to get away I lost my freaking mind I just need to find some time For myself, if that's alright I think I need the night After all this time Nothing ever changed Still don't listen to me Always wishing for a For a better day But it never comes These weary eyes of mine They've seen a lot of things They've seen our heart is clean And how I really earned my wings I need to get away from here I lost my freaking mind I just need to find some time For myself, if that's alright I think I need the night I used to sit in a rocket chair Out of the window I would stare I didn't wanna go nowhere I was happy to stay right there But these weary eyes of mine They just kept on telling me Now that I got my wings I can fly away and be free I need to get away from here I need to get away Before I lose my freaking mind I just need to find some time For myself, if that's alright I think I need the night
